REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

After reviewing the school work of the past year, we will attempt to report a few facts that may be of general interest. We hope that parents and citizens, who have had special interest in any school, have manifested the same by frequent visits to the school-room. The visitors present at some of the examinations, and the lists of visitors' names in the school registers, show that this has been done in many of the schools.

Quite extensive repairs have been made on some of the school-houses during the past year. Several houses have been painted, and old seats have been replaced by new ones. It is hoped that modern seats can be supplied for the remaining school-houses during the coming year. It seems almost useless to attempt any repairs on the school-house in No. 8. A new building for both district and high school is needed, and it is hoped that some measures in this direction may be taken at the coming school meeting. If the health and comfort of children are to be considered, the matter has certainly been deferred long enough.

The free text-book system has added somewhat to the duties of both teachers and School Board. That the schools may be benefited by having the needed supply of uniform text-books cannot be doubted. To some it may have seemed neglect on the part of the Board, that the books were not supplied at the beginning of the terms of schools. As soon as the needs of the pupils could be determined the books were ordered, but owing to the rush of orders at some of the publishing houses, they could not be promptly filled. It is of course necessary that a record be kept of the books sent to each school. For this purpose a Record Book has been provided, containing general rules in regard to the care of text-books. It is hoped that pupils will be instructed in, and acquire the habit of, careful usage of books. The books are obtained from publishers at the lowest prices, and will be furnished to those who desire to purchase at the same rates.

The school work for the past year has progressed quietly and pleasantly, and we are glad to say that good results have been accomplished in our schools. But few changes were made in teachers at the beginning of the school year. Miss Lucie Thompson, a graduate from Bradford Seminary, Mass., taught in No. 3, and Miss Annie S. Hyatt taught her first term in No. 2. Miss Julia Davis, a teacher of long experience and formerly a teacher in town, taught in No. 6. For the fall terms, Miss Mary Hamilton, a graduate from Goffstown High School, and Miss Martha G. Adams, a graduate from Green Mountain Seminary Vt., were employed for Nos. 4 and 9. Both were teachers of some experience. The vacancies in Nos. 6 and 10 were filled by Miss Callie Green, a former teacher in that school, and Miss Lillian B. Hammond a graduate of Green Mountain Seminary, Vt.

While many of our pupils have attained a high degree of excellence in mathematics, we find a general deficiency in most of the schools in grammar. We would not undervalue a thorough knowledge of arithmetic, and yet we believe it equally essential for a pupil to be able to write intelligibly a business letter, or to express a few sentences clearly and neatly in written language. Some of the teachers, with the aid of the new text-book, "How to Speak and Write Correctly," have given special attention to this work for the past year, and with good results. The practical part of grammar, speaking and writing correctly, should not be deferred till a pupil is able to study a text-book, but rather should commence with the first terms of school before the habit of using incorrect expressions has been formed.

Most of the advanced pupils from the other schools have attended the term of high school at Gilford Village. The pupils did credit to themselves at the close of the term, showing that thorough and practical instruction had been given. We are glad that there was sufficient interest among the pupils to continue the school two weeks at their own expense.

STEPHEN S. AYER,
OLIVE M. BENNETT,
School Board.

LAKE VILLAGE SCHOOL REPORT.

The public schools of this district have had a prosperous year. This is seen from the spirit of harmony and mutual good-will that has generally prevailed, from the liberal appropriations and consequent increased length of the school year, from the number of pupils in voluntary attendance and their interest and progress in all grades of school work.

While there are no special subjects to which it is necessary to call attention at this time, the work of the schools has been carried on in an orderly, earnest way, along lines that have been indicated in previous reports.

No change has occurred in the corps of teachers during the year, except that Mr. Wm. C. Downs has had charge of some of the classes at the high school during a part of the winter term. All the teachers have worked with a desire to improve the efficiency of their schools in discipline and instruction. No good teacher is content to rest satisfied with past achievements, but studies and looks forward to secure still better results in scholarship and development of character.

The work of improvement in the lower grades, begun a year or two ago, has been continued, and perceptible progress has been made since the last report. We again express the conviction formed with enlarged experience, that these schools are among the most important in any system of instruction, and should be under the direction of the best teaching force obtainable. Regular work has been done in modelling, drawing, and music in some of these schools, and can be carried along in the other departments at the opening of the spring term.

Some means should be adopted to improve the sanitary conditions at Pear Street. The location and surroundings are not the most suitable, in their present state, to promote the intellectual or healthy development of the small children who attend school there. The comfort, convenience, and health of children require school-houses well located, properly arranged, and well cared for. The site, nature of the ground, and means of warming, ventilation, and lighting, are matters which contribute more largely to the success of a school than is often supposed. The subject will receive further attention in the near future.

The free text-book law went into effect a little over a year ago, and is producing important and satisfactory results. The cost to the town the first year is necessarily greater than it need to be in any one year hereafter with the same number of pupils. Many scholars have preferred to own their books, getting them at cost price. The superintendent has had general charge of buying the books and supplies, and of distributing them to the schools. An itemized account is kept of all purchases and sales, and of all supplies furnished each teacher. All this adds largely to his work, to be sure, but it is the only practicable course to pursue. The system of free text-books affords a good opportunity for teachers to train their pupils to habits of neatness and order, and makes the public schools what they should be, literally free schools.

Changes have occurred in the Board of Education since the last meeting, by the removal from the state of Rev. E. P. Hoyt who had served on the board with credit for two years, and by the death of Mr. J. B. Hendley who had for so many years been closely identified with everything pertaining to the educational interests of our town. Mr. Hendley's intimate knowledge of the needs of the schools, his genial manner, and ready, safe counsel, made him an invaluable member of the committee and a trusted, sympathetic friend of pupil and teacher. His death was a personal loss to us all. Mr. John Aldrich was appointed in August as his successor.

In conclusion, the committee hope that the same cordial interest and support will be accorded the public schools the coming year as has been given them in the past.

Appended is the usual tabular report.
